What is the Dementia Friendly America Initiative (DFAi) in Prince George's County?

DFAi, is a national initiative addressing Alzheimer's and other forms of dementia. It is an outgrowth of the 2015 White House Conference on Aging. Mr. Baker, County Executive for Prince George's County, involved Prince George's County as one of eight national "Early Adopter Communities", as well as Mr. Ike Leggett, County Executive for Montgomery County. DFAi is a cross-sector, national effort leveraging tailored resources and tools to equip all community sectors to support those with dementia, their caregivers, and families.

Locally, DFAi is housed in Prince George's Department of Family Services under the Area Agency on Aging (A complete description of the DFAi national initiative can be found at: www.dfamerica.org.)

"A dementia-friendly community is one in which people with dementia are empowered to have high aspirations and feel confident, knowing they can contribute and participate in activities that are meaningful to them." This program has been implemented in Roseville, Minnesota. Program proponents seek to replicate the Minnesota model in communities nationwide. Becoming an informed, safe, and respectful community for people with dementia involves:

Prince George's County as a Dementia Friendly Community

- ◆ Raising awareness about Alzheimer's and transforming attitudes
- ◆ Having supportive options that foster quality of life
- ◆ Supporting caregivers and families touched by the disease
- ◆ Including diverse communities
- ◆ Promoting meaningful participation in community life

Dementia Friendly America is spearheaded by the Department of Family Services Area Agency on Aging in partnership with SeFams the contractor managing the Dementia Friendly Prince George's County Initiative. The Maryland Umbrella Group provides supportive services to the DFAi—Prince George's County through our Call In Caregiver Support Group, Memory Café and Caregiver Resource Saturdays programming .

What are Memory Cafés ?

Memory Cafés are popping up all over the Prince George's County, MD and they can be a great place to go if you're caring for a person with dementia, if you're worried about someone's memory, or if you just want to meet other people who are affected by dementia.

Here's what to expect if you visit a Memory Café.

1. Memory Cafés are usually held on a regular basis, either once or twice a month. Most are located in places that are easy to access, such as a community center, a city hall, or a senior center.

2. Memory Cafés are run by people (including volunteers) who have experience and training in dementia, so you should receive a warm welcome. If you want to have a chat or get some help or advice the café facilitator can help link you with resources. But this is not the same as visiting your doctor. They won't be able to offer a diagnosis but they can make a referral to organizations or resources that will be beneficial to both participant and caregiver. A memory café is not the same as a memory clinic where a formal diagnosis of dementia can be made.

3. Memory Cafés typically are limited to 7 or 8 participants and their caregivers.

Benefits of going to a Memory Café:

- ◆ You can both socialize and chat with other like-minded people, and curb feelings of loneliness and isolation.
- ◆ You can both have fun! Most cafes provide stimulating activities for caregivers and people with dementia which can help prevent boredom and aid relaxation. For example, live music, sing-alongs, quizzes, painting, memory box work, massage and reflexology.
- ◆ You can talk about personal issues that you might be worried about, such as changes in your relationship with people who understand.
- ◆ Memory Cafés also highlight for caregivers, activities that their loved one can still participate in, with the goal that this will spark some interest in activities that can be continued in a home setting.
